

THREE DEFINITIONS

Oculist

A physician who treats pathological conditions of the eye, such as granulated lids, glau-coma, etc., and does eye surgery. He frequently prescribes glasses, however.

Optometrist

One who is recognized by the laws of 27 States as The Eyesight Specialist. He does not treat diseased conditions of the eye, nor does he resort to the unscientific practice of paralyzing the muscles of the eyes by the use of belladonna, or other drugs, in making a diagnosis.

Optician

One who makes and repairs spectacles. He is NOT an eye specialist in any sense, but either simply sells glasses or fills the prescriptions of the Optometrist.

Oculist or the OPTOMETRIST?

OPENING OF THE ELKS'
HOME WITH PROGRAM.

Beautiful and Elegant Building Will Be Thrown Open For the Inspection of the People Generally.

The new Elks' Home will be opened tonight with a called session of the Lodge, which will be brief and followed by a social session in the lodge room.

Tomorrow night the younger members will give a dance in the reception room that promises to be an event long to be remembered.

Saturday will be Ladies' Day and the wives of the officers of the lodge, assisted by the wives and daughters of the members, will keep open house practically all day and the public generally will be free to inspect the beautiful building. The day will conclude with a concert on the piazza in the evening. During the reception refreshments will be served.

The old Home was burned March 9, 1911, and the present one, costing $30,000, is on a new location at Ninth and Water streets.

FIRST CONCERT OF SEASON.

Third Regiment Band Pleased
Everybody In a Lengthy Program.

PROF. WHITMAN FINE ORATOR

Immense Crowd Gathered To Hear the Initial Performance.

That Hopkinsville people appreciate good music was evidenced by the large crowd that assembled to hear the initial open-air concert East of Hotel Latham Tuesday night.

The time fixed for the opening performance of the series to be given by the Third Regiment Band was 8 o'clock, but long before that time the seats in the center of the lot and extending around three sides of the square were occupied.
T. L. Metcalfe, knowing that the seating capacity was insufficient, arranged seats on the second story of the Avalon and soon that space was all occupied. Then the unseated part of the throng had to content themselves with standing around the square, and for two hours held their places. It is estimated that three or four hundred people failed to get seats.

There was one unpleasant feature of the evening. The small boys were much in evidence and, as usual, were in front. It was plain that they cared nothing for the music and while the band was playing they were running about, turning somersaults and playing all kinds of antics.
People who are enjoying good music do not like to have the feast interrupted, and children who can't keep still and listen should be kept at home. We had the same trouble four years ago and it could not be stopped except by the police.

The program opened with "Daughters of America," followed by "Poet and Peasant," and on through the program choice selections were rendered in unmatchable style by the director's accomplished musicians.

For the evening Director Lebkuecher surrendered the baton to Prof. M. C. Whitman, who directed the program in a way that proved his ability as a handler of a large musical organization. Prof. Whitman is not only a fine director, but is also a composer of recognized merit as well as a musician.

Councilman Metcalfe was on the ground and was busy all the time seeing that as many ladies as possible got seats, and though he didn't so express himself, we venture the prediction that when the next concert is given there will be another row of seats around the square.

Some persons expressed the opinion that 8 o'clock was a little late for the beginning of the concerts, and the time for commencement of the entertainments in the future may be set half an hour earlier. If it is the papers will let it be known.

IMPORTANT MEETING

Of County Executive Committee of Tobacco Association.

SIGNATURES TO BE SECURED.

Sentiment Varies But Reorganization Will Be Effected.

A meeting of the county executive committee of the Planters Protective Association was held in the county court room last Tuesday morning. Thirteen out of the eighteen committeemen of the county were present. Mr. Felix G. Ewing was present. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mr.
Rufus C. Rives. The meeting had been called for the purpose of reorganizing the county association, all pledges having expired.

The chairman after stating the object of the meeting called upon the different members of the committee to give, so far as possible;
the sentiment of the tobacco growers in this sections of the county as to reorganization, whether they were outsiders or had ever belonged to the association.

The chairman stated that the time had arrived for the question to be definitely settled. The committee made a report of their knowledge of the condition of affairs in their sections, some of them saying that nearly every man was ready to sign up for the new crop; others seemed indifferent; others would go in if 60 or 65 per cent. would be pledged, while others stated that all that was needed was for some one who really understood the situation to meet the farmers and explain the condition of affairs.

No definite time of action was suggested in the open meeting, neither did Mr. Ewing have a word to say, but as the committee went into secret session at 11:40, it may be assumed that Mr. Ewing addressed the body and suggested initial steps towards reorganization.

From the remarks made by every member of the committee, all things being considered, it looks very much like the association will be reorganized. But the work has to be commenced and pushed rapidly as the books will be closed on the 21st of September.

CONGRESS AT LAST QUILTS.

House Objections To Paying State Claims Sustained, With Promise of Renewal.

COMPROMISE WAS EFFECTED.

Rather Tame Were the Proceedings That Marked Minutes.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Sobered by the embarrassments of Saturday's all-night session of filibusters and disagreements, congress adjusted its differences Monday, invited President Taft up to the capital once more, and at 4:30 o'clock wrote "finis" after the proceedings of the second session of the sixty-second congress.

The end was marked with a return of harmony. Senator LaFollotte, demanding action on the Penrose campaign fund resolution, found all opposition smoothed away in front of him and the resolution passed almost without discussion.

Senators Chamberlain, Martin, Swanson and Culberson, after fighting bitterly for the payment of the "state claims" embodied in the general deficiency bill, yielded to the urgings of their colleagues and permitted the senate to yield to the demands of the house and strike these claims from bill. In return for this concession, however, they received the promise of support next winter, when the claims again will be presented for payment.

With these old claims, amounting in all to $600,000, went the "extra month" pay for congressional employes which the senate demanded and the house refused to give.

Capt H. B. Grant who died in Louisville Monday was a soldier, writer, eminent Mason and church man, was recognized throughout the United States as an authority on military tactics, Masonry and the Methodist church.

Malcolm R. Patterson, Joseph E. Jones and W. K. McAlister are candidates for the Democratic nomination for Senator in Tennessee. Judge Jones was the circuit judge who presided over the night rider trials at Reelfoot lake.

Many important appointments made by the President in the last few months were left unconfirmed when Congress adopted its resolution of final adjournment. Among the more important are those of Judge Richard E. Sloan of Arizona, Maj. Gen. W. W. Wotherspoon, Brig. Gen. John McClernand and Judge Clinton W. Howard of the state of Washington, and John M. Cheney to be United States district judge for the southern district of Florida. Over sixty appointments of postmasters were left unconfirmed.

Almost Lost His Life.

S. A. Stid, of Mason, Mich., will never forget his terrible exposure to a merciless storm. "It gave me a dreadful cold," he writes, "that caused severe pains in my chest, so it was hard for me to breathe. A neighbor gave me several doses of Dr. King's New Discovery which brought great relief. The doctor said I was on the verge of pneumonia, but to continue with the Discovery. I did so and two bottles completely cured me." Use only this quick, safe, reliable medicine for coughs, colds, or any throat or lung trouble. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Pains All Over.

Houston, Tex.—"For five years," says Mrs. L. Fulencheck, of this place, "I suffered with pains all over, especially in my back and side, and was so weak I could hardly do my house work. A friend told me of Cardui. Since taking it, I feel so much better! Now I can do all my housework and pains don't bother me any more at all." Cardui is a strength-building medicine. Fifty years of success have produced, among its many users, confidence in Cardui and what it will do. During this time, Cardui has relieved the female ailments of over a million women. Why not yours? Try it, today. Your druggist sells it.

WOMEN'S HATS SMALLER.

Paris Powers-That-Be Disprove the Wide Hat.

Along with the banishment of the tube and hobble skirt comes the announcement that fall and winter hats for the fair sex will be very much smaller. In appearance they hark back to the joyous days when men had the courage to saunter forth in the little pancake lids now emulated in old tinctypes and on the vaudeville stage.

The powers that be in Paris who say what shall be worn have disproved of the extremely wide hats recently effected in this country. Milliners returning from the other side say the styles constitute a revolution.

The idea of the designers is to make the head appear as small as possible and this means not a wisp of false hair, hay, alfalfa, rag carpet, cotton waste or any other auxiliary can be worn. The woman blessed with abundant hair will have to brush it down tightly if she is to be within shouting distance of the styles.

The turbans are the most interesting. They are rather shy on material, but what they lack in that respect they make up "in style." Designed to fit down over the ears the head is compressed, as it were, into the smallest possible space. The hair, as a consequence, is dressed very flat in the back and on top and is pulled out on the sides and low in the front, simulating a fringe on the forehead.

Blamed A Good Worker.

"I blamed my heart for severe distress in my left side for two years," writes W. Evans, Danville, Va., "but I know now it was indigestion, as Dr. King's New Life Pills completely cured me." Best for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, constipation, headache or debility. 25c. at All Druggists.

A Modern Eve.

Reno, Nev., Aug. 26—Benjamin L. Mitchell secured a decree of divorce from Elizabeth Post Mitchell today after he told how he found her photograph in the nude. She was posing on a table with a piece of cake in her hand. He upbraided her for allowing any man to photograph her in such a state and she promptly hit him in the eye. Finally she gave him a sound beating and kicked him out of the house.

Clarksville's Prize Beauty.

HOW JIM EDWARDS REFORMED

Incorrigible Youngster Commences Reformation By Giving Mother Money He Had Won.

Jimmy Edwards had been an incorrigible boy, and Miss Morn, who had struggled valiantly to guide him into the path of virtue, was much relieved when she heard him announce he was going to be a "good boy."

"I am so glad to hear you say that Jimmy," she said sympathetically. "Yes'm," replied the boy, "I'm getting to be pretty old now—most fourteen—an' it's time I was tryin' to help my mother. I begun yesterday. I earned a dollar for her, just in one day."

"That was very nice, Jimmy," encouraged Miss Morn. "I'm so glad. How did you do it?"

"Well, you know, Miss Morn, mother give me 10 cents to buy some milk, an' as I was goin' to the store, I seen some fellers shootin' craps, an' I got in the game. I made a quarter with that time. Then the fellers quit, 'cos they said I had all the luck. I found some other fellers an' after I'd cleared 'em out I went over to the lot back of Beerstein's saloon an' played with different fellers till I earned a whole dollar. Gee, but I had luck! Wednesday's my lucky day, I guess."

Up to Him.

"I feel that I could overcome any obstacle for you," he declared. "There is only one obstacle that you will have to overcome to get me," she replied.

"What is it? Tell me, and I will overcome it." "I have made up my mind that I will never marry any one whose ears stick out like the wings on a monoplane. Get yours to flatten themselves against your head and the obstacle will be overcome."

Lessons From the Past.

"Suppose you do find your honest man, Diogenes," said one of the fellows in the crowd; "how will you recognize him?"

"I'll know him," responded Diogenes, "by his habit of minding his own business and not looking like any of you chaps."

From which we learn that men who wear celluloid clothing should not approach too near a lighted lantern.

UNPLEASANT THOUGHTS.

"Here's jobs advertised for 400 men!" "Gee! Jest skip de horrible details, won't you?"

The Boston Version.

"Chicago is a great town. Everybody boosts."

"Boston inhabitants are excessively ardent agitators for the uplift, too," responded the gentleman from that burg.

A Promised Reform.

Mrs. Hustler—When women rule there'll be no more of this "wine, women and song" thing.

Mrs. Hustler—No? Mrs. Hustler—No; it'll be "mirth, men and music."—Judge.

His Parting Words.

"Goodby, daughter, I suppose you will be engaged a number of times this summer."

"I suppose so, dad." "Well, you're getting along. See if you can't make one of them permanent."

More Profitable.

Ole Scribbler—I hear you have given up fiction writing.

Younger Scribbler—No; merely changed my style. I've become an advertisement writer.—Judge.

London's Girl Messengers.

Boys employed at Reuter's Telegraph Agency in Old Jewry, London, had better look to their laurels, for girl messengers are constantly being engaged in preference to the youths. The sanguine and youthful spirits of the boys have had to do with their slackness—one of their chief faults—while the placid obedience of the maiden messengers has elevated them in the estimation of their employers.

"Our girl messengers," said the manager of the traffic department of the Reuter's Agency, "perform their duties much better than the boys. The girls on an average take three messages while the boys take only two."

He Won't Limp Now.

No more limping for Tom Moore of Cochran, Ga. "I had a bad sore on my instep that nothing seemed to help till I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve," he writes, "but this wonderful healer soon cured me." Waiting For Eyes.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 26.—John Cashin, blind newsboy, is waiting for a condemned murderer to die so he can get the dead man's eyes.

Dr. Phinzy Calhoun is to have charge of the operation when Clay dies. Here is the plan:

Clay's eyes will be removed immediately after he has paid the penalty. They will be placed in a warm saline solution and hurried to a hospital, where Cashin will be waiting. The cornea, the seeing part of the eye, will then be put in place of Cashin's useless cornea. Then, Dr. Calhoun says, the optic nerve, long unused, will exercise its function, and Cashin will see.

Hot For Winter.

At Water Valley, Miss., when Henry C. Winter, her brother-in-law, with whom she makes her home, threatened Friday to whip her, so her story goes, Zella Sweeney, 17 years old, picked up a revolver and fired five shots at him, four of them taking effect, one under the left eye, the others in the body. Winter is not expected to live. The girl is under arrest. Winter is one of the family of Winter brothers of Clarksville, one of whom was at one time in business there.

Gen. Bramwell Booth.

Gen. Bramwell Booth, who succeeds as Commander-in-Chief of the Salvation Army, is the eldest son of Gen. William Booth, and was chosen by his father before his death to take the leadership of the great organization. Bramwell Booth, who is 56 years old, was born in Halifax, England, and could be said to have been reared in the Salvation Army. He entered the ranks in the humblest station and worked his way up by degrees until in 1882 he was given the rank of Chief of Staff. He is well educated and is thoroughly familiar with the organization in all of its departments and methods of operation, and in his official capacities has traveled in every land where the Salvationists are stationed. Although lacking of the force and magnetism of his father, he is said to have fine executive ability and is thoroughly devoted to the cause of which he becomes the leader.

Shocking Sounds

in the earth are sometimes heard before the terrible earthquake, that warn of the coming peril. Nature's warnings are kind. That dull pain or ache in the back warns you the kidneys need attention if you would escape those dangerous maladies, Dropsy, Diabetes or Bright's disease. Take Electric Bitters at once and see backache fly and all your best feelings return. "My son received great benefit from their use for kidney and bladder trouble," writes Peter Bondy, South Rockwood, Mich., "It is certainly a great kidney medicine." Try it. 50 cents at All Druggists.

The SHADOW KISS

Jessica Lynch lived with her father and mother in a quaint little cottage just outside the city limits. She was a beautiful girl, tall and slender, with dark gray eyes shaded by long, curling lashes, light brown hair that curled about her temples and a complexion that was the envy of all her girl friends.

She possessed unusual musical ability, played well and sang in a clear, rich contralto, that was the delight of the choirmaster and congregation of St. Mark's church, where she had been attending services since she was five years old, 20 years ago.

Theodore Craig, the organist and choirmaster, loved Jessica. It seemed as if he had always loved her, although he had known her but six months, having come to St. Mark's from a distant city. He did not tell her of his love, for he knew he could not provide a home for her as good as the one she had been accustomed to, even if he was successful in his suit.

Jessica and Theo were absolutely congenial. They played and sang together, took long rambles in the country on Sunday afternoons, visited picture galleries and concerts, and thoroughly enjoyed the opera even if their seats were in an upper balcony, for like most musicians, Theo was not a very practical business man, and money with him was scarce.

Many happy evenings were spent in the parlor of the little cottage, with either Theo or Jessica at the piano. Millie Jayne, one of Jessica's many friends, laughingly gave it the name of "The Music Box," for happiness and melody seemed to radiate about the place, and every one of the young people who knew Jessica was sure of a hearty welcome and a merry time whenever they entered its hospitable doors.

The gentle little mother and stately father were friendly with all the young people, but they especially admired Theo and treated him almost as if he was their own son. This made it harder for him to keep silent, and he had made up his mind to tell Jessica of his love and ask her to wait for him until he received an expected promotion, when a distant relative died, leaving him a comfortable fortune.

The news reached him in the morning, and all day long his thoughts were with the girl he loved. He would go to her that very evening and ask her to be his wife.

As he walked up the path that led to the cottage door, he paused to listen to the music which came from within. Jessica was singing "Love's Sorrows" in a low sweet tone, and as the last note died away he looked up at the parlor window; the white linen blinds were down, and as he stood there with the words of the song still ringing in his ears, he saw Jessica's shadow, distinctly silhouetted on the white surface of the blind, rise from the piano, and at the same time a man's figure arose from a chair that stood beside it.

Theo wondered who the caller was, and a smile curved his lips as he thought that hereafter he would have the privilege of calling every night until he took his bride to their own home.

Suddenly the shadow man held out his arms and the shadow woman calmly walked toward him and held up her lips to receive his kiss, as he closed his arms about her in close embrace.

Stunned at the sight, Theo, white and haggard, turned and retraced his steps to the road. Too late! He had come too late. Some more fortunate man had won the girl he loved.

Late that night he left for the south to attend the funeral of his relative. But what did he care now for the money? The very thought of it was hateful to him.

Six weeks later, returning from the south, where he had been detained by business matters, Theo determined to call upon Jessica and manfully offer her his best wishes.

As he approached her home, he recalled vividly the scene he had witnessed the last time he was there, and instinctively paused as he entered the gate and looked at the lighted parlor window with its blinds down.

He was startled at what he saw. The same man's features that had been pictured on the blind before; the same slim form, bushy hair and slightly humped shoulder, stood with arms outstretched. But this time it was not Jessica who gave a queer little run forward into them. It was not tall, queenly Jessica, who was kissed and kissed by the stranger, but Millie Jayne.

Theo could not mistake her diminutive figure and fluffy head with the hair piled high on top to "add to my inches," as she said.

What could it mean? The man he thought engaged to marry Jessica now kissing Millie as if his life depended upon those kisses.

Well, he would not be long in clearing up the mystery, and striding up to the door, he asked the maid who answered his ring for Mrs. Lynch, who, as she heard his voice, came forward with a welcoming smile.

"A stranger, indeed," she said, gently, "but none the less welcome," and leading the way, she entered the parlor.

"Theo, I want you to know my son Jack."

"Jack, this is Mr. Craig, Jessica's friend, of whom you have heard so much," and as the men shook hands Mrs. Lynch explained to Theo that her son had left home 12 years before for Australia, and they had all thought he had been lost at sea on the outgoing trip.

Later he learned how Jack had been shipwrecked on the coast of Africa and had returned to his parents' home after many vicissitudes.

"And now I shall stay at home, for Millie has promised to be my wife and says she will never let me go so far away again."

It was the night of Jack's return that Theo had seen his shadow and Jessica's on the blind, and now, when he inquired for Jessica, Mrs. Lynch told him she had gone out in the garden to enjoy the moonlight. The mysterious man and his kisses were explained, and as he went in search of Jessica Theo's heart was very happy; but happier by far were the two young people as they returned from the rose garden hand in hand and found Jessica's father and mother seated on the porch, Mr. Lynch holding his wife's hand as only married lovers do.

Three months later the choir of St. Mark's sang "O Perfect Love" at the celebration of a double wedding.

AIR WARM AT HIGH ALTITUDES

Forty sounding balloons carrying registration apparatus, sent up by the Royal Meteorological Society of England reached different heights. The mean altitude attained was 16,411 meters, the maximum 23,010 meters. At a certain altitude the temperature increased instead of decreasing. This could not have been due to solar radiations because the maximum height was reached after sunset.—Harper's Weekly.

HIS PREFERENCE.

"Prisoner, you have been condemned to death, but in this state we allow you to choose between hanging and shooting. Which do you prefer?"

"Since I have my choice, kind sirs, I prefer to be hung in effigy."

Necessity For "Best" Teacher In Each School District

By JOHN B. M'FERRAN, Chairman Educational Committee, Louisville Commercial Club

A FRIEND of mine interested in schools happened in Boston not long since and in going about investigating the city's schools, on reaching the lowest and poorest part of the city, was surprised to see going up a splendid, beautiful school building to cost $375,000. He said, "Why on earth do you put such a handsome and costly building in this part of the city?" The answer was, "We want to make good, intelligent citizens out of these children, and we think this one of the important ways of doing it."

I should like to know why we pursue the unbusinesslike, illogical and absolutely unfair method of offering three kinds of teachers' certificates, especially now as the counties have the right to tax themselves up to 20 cents on $100 for general school purposes. ARE WE DELIBERATELY TRYING TO MAKE THREE CLASSES OF CITIZENS—THE INFERIOR, THE MODERATELY GOOD AND THE BEST? In a true democracy there is no use or room for classes. Ought not our efforts to be addressed to the one object of making an average intelligent good citizenship?

Under present arrangements we are compelling the poorer sections of our counties to employ third-class teachers whose capacity will not suffer them to go above a wage of $30 to $40 per month, while the cities and towns and wealthier parts of the counties are paying $60 to $75 per month. Of course this higher pay and better environment attract the best teachers, those holding the first class certificates. Now, this is manifestly unfair and very unwise.

THE BOYS AND GIRLS IN THE LESS WEALTHY PORTIONS OF OUR COUNTIES ARE ALREADY SUFFICIENTLY HANDICAPPED BY THEIR POVERTY AND IGNORANCE. WHY, THEN, UNDER HEAVEN, ARE THEY FURTHER HANDICAPPED BY CHEAP, INCOMPETENT TEACHERS?

There ought to be, as soon as the proper legislation can be had, only one certificate granted to all teachers and that of the first class. If there are districts unable to pay in full for a first class teacher let the county board make up the difference out of the county fund, for which it was intended. THESE POORER DISTRICTS PAY THE SAME RATE OF TAX, SO FAR AS THEY HAVE TAXABLES, AS DO THE WEALTHIER SECTIONS, AND THEY SHOULD HAVE A FAIR AND LIBERAL DEAL.

This is not only generous and unselfish, but it is Christlike, and it is a wise business proposition to make good and intelligent citizens out of these less fortunate. I think when the people consider this question deliberately they will see the folly of present methods and demand a change and will get it. Therefore it would be wise for teachers to prepare themselves to get first class certificates, and I think they have no time to lose because the change when started will come quickly. The state has two normal schools and the university whose business it is to prepare teachers.

Not 25 per cent of the teachers of the state are taking advantage of these opportunities, and many of them will be left out when the change comes. I am hoping to see the day when our teachers will be better paid, but when that day dawns it will bring with it also an undeniable demand for better prepared teachers.

APPENDICITIS

Caused Death of Thomas E. Clark at Evansville.

Intelligence was received here at 2 o'clock yesterday morning that Thomas E. Clark had died about 12:30 o'clock. The remains arrived here yesterday at 5:30 and were taken to the home on East 22d street.

Funeral services will be held at the residence at 3:00 o'clock this afternoon conducted by Rev. Henry E. Gabby, burial in Riverside Cemetery. The deceased is survived by his wife and five children, all daughters. He was in the 43d year of his age.

Two weeks ago Mr. Clark was taken to Dr. Walker's sanitarium, Evansville, to be operated on for appendicitis. The first operation was successful but developments necessitated a second. The second operation was made Tuesday but Mr. Clark, never very strong physically, was unable to bear up under it. Mr. Clark was an honest, hard-working man, a christian and was everybody's friend.

ARTIFICIAL GEYSER

That Spouted 50 Feet High On Main Street.

Last Tuesday while the pipemen of the City Water Co. were excavating in front of D. W. Kitchen's store on Main street, the pressure of water in the main pipe was so great that it forced out the 1/2 inch connection and in a second a stream of water shot up in the air about 50 feet. It was about two hours before the main connections at Seventh and Ninth streets could be cut off. Henry Fields, one of the colored pipemen, got a free cold bath before he could get out of the way. The temporary fountain attracted a large crowd and somewhat resembled a geyser of Yellowstone Park.

GREAT REVIVAL

Now in Progress at Vaughan's Chapel.

The revival in progress at Vaughan's Chapel is proving to be a great meeting and will result in a largely increased membership to the church. The pastor, Rev. G. W. Lyon, is being assisted by Rev. B. L. Yates. On Sunday night there were eleven additions to the church and a number of others professed at Tuesday night's service. On Tuesday morning one gentleman who is in his 95th year was received into the church.

Large crowds attend each service, and interest is increasing with each day and the series of meetings will result in much good. The revival will probably continue through the rest of the week.

The Lester Memorial.

The Rev. G. W. Belk, evangelist of Muhlenburg Presbytery, will preach at the Lester Memorial church next Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. All will be welcomed.

MAN CUT IN TWO

By Freight Train While Switching Yesterday.

Bob Chambers, colored, met a horrible death yesterday afternoon in the I. C. yards. He fell from the top of a box car and fell across one rail of the track, face downward, one arm under him, the other across the rail. One or two wheels passed over him, almost severing the body below the chest and both arms being cut in two. Coroner Rice was holding an inquest as our forms were closed. The cause of his falling had not been established.

PLENTY OF TIME TO REFORM

Under the Circumstances, Autoist Concluded He Would Wait to Make Restitution.

"There's a thing that has happened to several acquaintances of mine that I wonder has not found its way into print long before this," said the autoist, as a sort of windup to the adventures he had been relating. "They say that when a man is drowning or falling from a great height he thinks of all the mean things he ever did in his whole life. It is the same with an autoist when his machine skids and he sees that he is headed straight for a tree or telegraph pole and cannot possibly avert collision."

"When did you experience this feeling?" was asked.

"About a month ago. I was going along the highway at a clip of 55 miles an hour, when—"

"You said 50."

"I did, and it was 50, though, of course, if I had been arrested I should have sworn that it was under 20. I was making nearly a mile a minute when I struck a wet spot and the machine skidded. Something went wrong with the steering gear at the same time, and we headed for a big telegraph pole. In five seconds I thought of how I beat a farmer out of a dollar; of how a bank once paid me $5 too much; of how I poisoned an old woman's cat; of how I stole a boy's marbles; of how I lied about a man, and of the way I cheated a poor drayman in selling him a horse. All these things rose up before me in the five seconds, and I felt ashamed of them, and wished I could live to make restitution."

"And you are now going about and squaring yourself, being that you lived."

"Well, not exactly. I'll do that some other time. You see, the machine took a skip at the last second and came back into the road again."—Exchange.

FOR A LAW ABOVE PARENTAL

Surgeon Advocates Compulsory Operations for Relief of Deformed Children.

The question of compulsory operations upon crippled and defective children, which was decided by Judge Sulzberger at Philadelphia as entirely a matter for the discretion of the parents, has found a vehement protestant in Dr. E. A. Spitzka. The brain specialist comes forward with the statement that these operations should be made compulsory by legislative enactment. Doctor Spitzka said:

"Parents should not be permitted to prevent an operation upon a child when that operation was absolutely necessary for the child's good. If a conference of surgeons finds it is possible to correct some physical deformity by an operation, then no parent should be permitted to step in and prevent that child from having at least a normal chance to compete with the rest of mankind."

"The good of the community should be considered first and laws should be made that the parents must be forced to hand over the child for an operation at the hands of competent experts when it is deemed necessary to have an operation."

Why They Don't Have to Play.

Manager Charles Carr of the Blues and a few friends were eating lunch in a grill room one night not long ago says the Kansas City Journal, and while waiting for their orders were reading the scores of major league games which are posted there.

A Jewish bartender, who is a very enthusiastic baseball fan and likes to talk when any of the players are around, walked up to the table where the men were seated and said:

"Look at the batteries, fellows; all O'Tooles, Finnigans, Cheney's and the rest of the Irish. Those Irish sure like to play ball."

"Well," said Carr, "I don't notice that these are any Goldsteins, Goldbergs or any other Jews in there doing anything for the national game."

"Don't worry about any of us Jews putting our names in the batteries," said the barkeep; "we own the clubs."

Clothes Must Be "Amusing."

The women are tired of fashions that are merely chic or lovely and are now cultivating the eccentric. They like a dress which they can term "amusing." Their hats, also must be "amusing." Their frocks must be "funny," their ties, belts, coats and hosiery "ducky." The latter term describes articles that are pretty and also amusing.

The clothes now worn include braces for women with skirts or trouser effect. Some of the hats are trimmed with two tennis rackets made of plush, with white stockings having black, spreading trees for clocks, and little curate coats and cabmen's hats piled in straw.—London Letter.

Camp Sleeping Outfit.

Camp time and summer time seem to be one and the same thing to a great number of persons, and for the camp there are sleeping outfits of camel's hair velour. These comfortable arrangements consist of a blanket of it, into which one slips as into a bag, and is buttoned along the side and at the foot, and a knit cap and sleeping shoes, matching in color, complete the set. It is an exceedingly warm outfit and yet so light to carry that it can be rolled and added to one's traveling needs without any appreciable difference in weight.

BUCKSHOT WAS FOR RASTUS

Turkey He Had Given to Mrs. Ransom Was Tame Enough to Eat Out of One's Hand.

Rastus had called at Judge Ransom's house and made a present of a fine turkey to the judge's wife. "Mah brotheh had two," he said to ease her suspicions, "and so he gave me this one."

Mrs. Ransom gave him in return two bright silver dollars, on the condition that the bird was a tame turkey, and not the wild kind, because the judge detested getting his mouth full of shot every time he wanted a bite.

"Dose turkeys was bofe of 'em tame enough to eat out of yo' hand, Mis' Ransom," said Rastus, earnestly.

That night Judge Ransom and his wife sat down to a deliciously browned turkey, piping hot. At the first bite, the judge jumped to his feet, spitting grape shot in all directions.

"Send for that fellow!" he shouted wrathfully. In due time a panic-stricken Rastus came in trembling.

"I sent for you, you black scoundrel, to ask you why in the Sam Hill you lied about that turkey not being a wild one? Why, it was loaded with bird shot!"

"Dem shot was intended for me, yo' honoh," said Rastus, humbly.—Kansas City Star.

CONCERNING THE ELOCUTIONIST.

Wot's he talkin' about?" "I dunno, sounds like he was practicin' for a baseball umpire."

Presence of Mind.

Thus she reproached him: "Alfred, this is the first time you have come to see me for more than a month!"

Thus he explained: "Kitty, I've decided that when a young fellow can't keep from thinking of a girl every moment of his life it's time for him to quit seeing her." "Kiss me, Alfred, dear!" He hesitated a moment—and was lost.

Other Vocations.

"How many graduated from Yalevard this June?"

"Five hundred and ten."

"All going into professional baseball, I s'pose?"

"Not at all," retorted the dean peevishly. "That sort of talk is becoming offensive. We have two men who expect to be outdoors, and one man who is going into his father's hardware store."

Why the Exception?

"Do spectators hoot at a golf game?"

"Oh, no."

"Do they try to rattle the players at polo?"

"Certainly not. That might cause serious accidents."

"Do they get abusive at a tennis match?"

"You know they do not."

"Then why baseball?"

A Poet Preferred.

"My daughter wants to marry a duke."

"Mine wants to marry a poet."

"Well, I believe I'd rather support a poet than a duke. From all accounts, a poet won't eat much, and I don't think he'll want to play the stock market all the time."

Such Nerve!

Tripper (crossing from England to Denmark)—Can you speak their lingo?

Professor—Yes. It's not very unlike English, you know. The Danes left their mark behind them when they invaded England.

Tripper—The Danes invaded England? What infernal cheek!—Punch

Unusual Kind.

Willis—What kind of a hotel does he run?

Gillis—As usual. In summer you get a little room with no windows and in winter a big room with no stove.—Judge.

Asked and Answered.

"What happens when you put the dollar before the man?" bawled the candidate.

"The man goes after it," answered an old farmer in the crowd.

A Strait.

Texas Teacher of Infant Geography Class—John Mace may tell us what a strait is.

John Mace—It's jus' th' plain stuff 'thout nothin' in it.—Judge.

A Waif.

"By golly, I call this rubbing it in."

"How now?"

"I sent this magazine two poems, and they sent me back three."

WERE FAILURES AS STUDENTS

Careers of Great Scientists Seem to Show Something Wrong With Modern Education.

It is a remarkable fact that neither Darwin, Pasteur, Koch, Newton, Franklin nor Edison ever had a university education. A writer in a recent issue of American Medicine adds to this list the name of Ehrlich, whose eminence in the field of medicine has so recently been emphasized by his discovery of "666" or salvarsan.

"Paul Ehrlich," he says, "could not even graduate, and horrors of horrors, in chemistry he was worst of all. He was always trying to do things differently from his teachers, who had never done an original thing themselves and were merely teaching him what had been taught to them. He was considered a failure as a student at the very time he was the best student of his decade. If education is merely pouring facts into the pupil's skull with a funnel, as the majority of teachers practice it, then we are training the memory alone; but, if it is to be a real drawing out of mental faculties, then the graduate may be permitted to be as ignorant of old, useless facts as Ehrlich was—and the world profit by it. Let us think a bit over this matter and then realize that we want workers and thinkers, not memorizers."

ONLY MADE MATTERS WORSE

Husband's Brilliant Idea of Soothing Wife Didn't Seem to Work Out Just Right.

Senator Bristow, apropos of Independence day, was analyzing in Salina the troops under Cornwallis during the revolution.

"And in the end," he said, "they became so panic-stricken that they were like Blanc's wife.

"Blanc's wife, you know, when ever a shutter rattled or a board creaked, would wake up her husband and say:

"Oh, John, there are burglars downstairs! Don't you hear them? Oh, what shall we do?"

"But Blanc hit at last on an idea that, he thought, would compose his wife permanently.

"Look here," he said, "you can rest assured those noises aren't burglars. Burglars work in absolute silence. You never hear a sound from them."

Senator Bristow smiled. "And now," he said, "Mrs. Blanc wakes her husband up in a blue panic whenever there's no noise."

HE FOOLED HIS LAWYER.

A story is going the rounds of how one of Suffolk county's lawyers was fooled by a client. A tramp, arraigned for vagrancy, was under suspicion of having taken the watch of an elderly gentleman who was eager to appear against him. The lawyer took pity on the unfortunate pedestrian and, convinced that he was not guilty, took the stand in his behalf and pleaded for him so strongly that the judge discharged him.

Stepping from the dock the freed man followed the lawyer to the corridor, and in a secluded spot approached him to express his gratitude. He said: "Honored sir, I'm sorry I ain't got no money to give you, but I feel highly grateful and wish to repay you."

Fumbling among the folds of his tattered garments he produced a shiny object and, placing it in the lawyer's hand, said: "Here, take the watch."—Boston Traveler.

PASSING OF THE POULTICE.

At a meeting in support of the London Bible Women and Nurses' Mission, at the Mansion House recently Sir Alfred Pearce Gould spoke of the passing of "the old-fashioned filthy poultice."

At one time, he said, every woman considered herself capable of making a poultice, but now it was "as dead as Queen Anne." Its place had been taken by antiseptic dressings.—London Daily Mail.

THE DANGER.

"But I doctor myself by the aid of medical books."

"Yes, and some fine day you'll die of a misprint!"—London Opinion.

AS TO SUCCESS.

Griggs—I should say that the two keys to success are luck and pluck.

Briggs—Sure! Luck in finding some one to pluck.

Stopped Those Pains.

Copper Hill, Va.—Mrs. Ida Conner, of this place, says: "For years I had a pain in my right side, and was very sick with womanly troubles. I tried different doctors, but could get no relief. I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I took Cardui, and it relieved the pain in my side, and now I feel like a new person. It is a wonderful medicine." Many women are completely worn out and discouraged on account of some womanly trouble. Are you? Take Cardui, the woman's tonic. Its record shows that it will help you. Why wait? Try it today. Ask your druggist about it.

NO ROOM FOR HIS INITIALS

Space on Watch Charm All Taken by Insignia of Various Orders the Wearer Belonged To.

Under Sheriff Joseph Brady of Wyandotte county is wearing a new watch charm that catches everybody's eye. The charm, a large gold Maltese cross, was designed and given to him by his wife. Joe belongs to a number of secret and fraternal orders and his wife decided to give him an Elk's pin, but she thought he might want the insignia of some other order, too, and began going over the list. She counted up ten lodges that he belonged to and being unable to decide on any one, made up her mind to put the insignia of every one on one piece of jewelry. She succeeded. On one side of the charm are the insignia of the Independent Order of Foresters, the Red Men, the Moose, the Modern Woodmen and the Knights of Pythias. On the reverse side come the Elks, Eagles, the Degree of Honor, the Yeomen and the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

"The only thing that was overlooked was the arms of an old line insurance company that I am insured in, and the trade marks of two accident policies that I carry," Brady said as he explained his odd piece of finery for the seventeenth time the other afternoon.—Kansas City Journal.

HIS IDEA

Jinks—A crab is a funny thing. Blinks—How so?

Jinks—Sometimes you can be in your boat for hours and never get a bite, but if you only get one little one in the boat you've got to do acrobatic stunts to keep from getting a bite every minute.

LESSON IN BOOSTING.

The lively borough of Butler, which is the seat of Butler county, in this state, is giving a lesson in boosting which may well be imitated by many larger municipalities. It has created a boosting committee of 400 citizens and a boosting fund of $600,000. This is going pretty rapidly in a town of some 20,000 inhabitants. But Butler has done some boosting before and knows how. Its present population is double that shown by the census of 1900, and it is determined that the next time the inhabitants are counted there shall be enough of them to entitle the place to a few metropolitan honors. This does not mean merely more people; it means more business and manufactures and trade generally, for they are the inspiration of a town's growth.—Philadelphia Press

HIS SPORTING INSTINCT.

A stout man, near middle age, accepted an invitation from a married couple to an automobile ride. He sat in the front seat. The woman wore a sailor hat insufficiently spiked and not moored by a veil. Presently the wind caught it and it went sailing.

The man in the front seat volunteered to chase it, and started in pursuit, the hat being nearly a hundred feet away. It was running easy on its brim with the balance of the small boy's hoop. As the stout man started to gain a little the hat would whip up, aided by a freshening breeze.

An automobile filled with young men in high spirits came along behind. All had a good view of the chase, and as they passed the runner one sung out:

"Two to one on the hat."

SAD ASSOCIATIONS.

He—Maria, don't go to that laundry any more.

She—Why not?

He—Its managers are too reactionary. I saw them this morning running bandana handkerchiefs through the mangle.

A Lucky Shot.

Miss Lena McGregor, of the C. R. Clark Co., found herself the owner of a beautiful Shetland pony, buggy and harness last Tuesday morning. She held ticket No. 107 in the pony shooting contest conducted by H. R. Tilford. Clarence Drake shot for Miss McGregor and won the rig. There's nothing like being lucky sometimes.

BIG BUSINESS PROCLAMATION

The Kentuckian Will Send Out Story of Prosperity of the City and County.

Edition Will Be a Monster One, and Will Be Circulated in Every Direction.

It has always been the policy of The Kentuckian to "Boost" Hopkinsville and Christian county in every manner possible, and in keeping with this rule we have secured the services of James M. Ross—one of the oldest and most favorably known men in this line in the country—for the purpose of issuing an Industrial, Illustrated, Agricultural edition of Hopkinsville and Christian county.

The purpose of this edition will be to set forth as concisely as possible the resources of Christian county, and the unequalled advantages of Hopkinsville for the manufacturer, investor and homeseeker.

A great many people look upon the cities of our country today as they did fifteen or twenty years ago, and take no time to investigate their present condition and claims.

Therefore the object of this edition will be to advertise Hopkinsville and Christian county abroad, to send throughout the country a truthful account of the advantages which Hopkinsville, the best city in Kentucky, has to offer.

Thousands of copies will be mailed covering boards of trade, business men's associations, commercial clubs, public libraries, etc., in the country, and out of this distribution we have every reason to believe that a certain per cent. of those reached will be interested in the city and county described, and out of this per cent. we feel assured that Hopkinsville will draw new enterprises and receive new citizens.

No expense will be spared in making this the handsomest and most comprehensive edition ever issued in Western Kentucky, and we bespeak for it the liberal and hearty support of everybody who has any pride in Hopkinsville and Christian county.

TEACHER'S INSTITUTE

In Progress and Closes Tomorrow Afternoon.

One of the most successful county Institutes that has ever been held here is in progress in the Circuit Court room, which held its first session last Monday morning under the supervision of Miss Jennie West.

Eighty-six of the teachers of the county teachers have been enrolled and great interest is manifest on the part of those whose life work will be to "teach the young shoot how to idea."

During the sessions Prof. M. A. Cassidy, who is the instructor, delivered many valuable talks on different subjects. His lecture Wednesday morning on Language in the 1st, 2d, 3d and 4th grades was full of sound, practical suggestions to teachers of these grades.

He was followed by Mrs. Chas. P. Weaver who is at the head of the School Improvement League of Kentucky. Mrs. Weaver claimed the closest attention of those present and her suggestions, one of which was that teachers should take particular care of the body, contained food for thought that cannot fail to benefit teachers in every department of school work.

After Mrs. Weaver had concluded a delightful luncheon was served to "a chosen few." This little spread, consisting of bananas and cream, followed by an egg on toast, hot biscuits, ham and cocoa, was prepared by Misses Cora Means, Mary Effie Means, Willie Brasher, Mrs. John Keith and Mr. Leslie Brown. Miss Fannie Henry, of Lexington selected these five members to demonstrate her talks on domestic science, of which she is a specialist, besides being a member of the State board of supervisors.

Tuesday was "Trustees Day" and the trustees of the county were here and were entertained at luncheon, after which a permanent organization was effected. J. C. Johnson was chosen president but the election of a permanent secretary was postponed to the first meeting called by the County Superintendent.

Tonight Prof. Cassidy will deliver his lecture "Paul Lawrence Dunbar, and Uncle Remus," with dialect readings. Everybody should hear this.

During the sessions Mr. W. S. Taylor, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, delivered two interesting lectures.

The committee to arrange the musical program to precede and follow Prof. Cassidy's lecture reported a good program.

Promptness and Efficiency in filling your Prescription is next of importance to the doctor's orders. Promptness means that we have the freshest and latest drugs right here in the compounding department and that there is no need for unnecessary waiting. Efficiency signifies that the very highest skill is used in filling your prescription. The combination of these two things is of the greatest consequence in that cure. Ask your doctor.
